

LOS ANGELES

Hollywood at Play

No one is anticipating a warm summer season more than Hollywood at Home shopkeeper/designer Peter Dunham. This spring, he introduces his latest custom furniture pieces and new African-inspired textiles alongside handwoven fabrics by Danielle & Sachrijara and the RP Miller textile collection to his new La Cienega Design Quarter destination. Here, he shares 10 ways he'll unwind under the sun: 1. Antiques shopping in the South of France, followed by a stay at my house in Cadaques, Spain. 2. Enjoying the KCRW World Festival on a Sunday evening at The Hollywood Bowl. 3. Meeting friends at the Annenberg Beach House. 4. Savoring long dinners in my garden. 5. Sneaking off to North Malibu or Rincon for three-day weekends. 6. Leaving early on Fridays! 7. Wearing flip-flops.

8. Eating Persian mulberries from the Hollywood Farmers' Market in July. 9. Hanging out poolside at the Coral Casino Beach Club. 10. Jetting off for a week to Water Island, NY. 724, 750 N. La Cienega Blvd., L.A., 310-273-6200; hollywoodathome.com.

FROM LEFT Annenberg Beach House. Cloud chair. Copenhagen sofa. Peter Dunham.

HAUTE HAVENS

Though she'll install conveyor belts or library-like rolling stacks for 1,000-pair shoe collections, when Lisa Adams clears out dressing rooms for her clients, it's not necessarily for more Alaïas. Transforming closets into boutique-like settings, the CEO of West Hollywood's L.A. Closet Design crafts wardrobe displays as over-the-top as retail masters Prada or Louis Vuitton ("It's all in the hardware, and how to hang things," she says). What's more, Adams embraces personal space with customized amenities—a chaise for magazine reading; a Pilates nook; a Miele laundry station or coffee bar. Multifunctional living might as well come equipped. PDC, WeHo, 310-289-1311; lაცlosetdesign.com.

A Hancock Park closet by Lisa Adams (pictured) boasts ample seating, angled shelves and carousels.

THE WRITE STUFF

Send mom a missive with John Robshaw's second stationery collection: block-printed note cards imaginatively recycled from the gadabout's exquisite textiles. $25 to $40/set of 6; johnrobshaw.com.